INDEX OF FUNDING RESOURCES

NOTE: Some federal and private grant listings in this document may have expired deadlines. We continue to include these listings because the funding resource is highly likely to be re-opened for grant competition in future years. Along with the descriptive information provided, the funding opportunity listed contains both contact information and links that may assist you in your research. From a grant writing perspective, it may take almost a year to prepare, submit, and receive a response from the funding source. Therefore, reviewing both expired grants and awarded grants may be helpful in preparing for future funding applications. For more information on grant writing strategies, view our Successful Grant Writing Strategies document available on our website.

This delivery must incorporate the effective use of technology and UDL principles. The models proposed should focus on change of instruction based upon student demonstration of knowledge gained. It is expected that these student-centered approaches will result in a decrease in the district's dropout rate over the two year period of the grant and an increase in student performance against state standards. Proposed programs should stress a focus on one or more of the following within the high needs / at-risk student population stipulated by Title IID competitive grant guidelines, as defined in the following section: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Dropout prevention • Retention of students • Increased graduation / credit recovery / credit completion rates • Credit completion independent from time spent on task. 	Instruction(s): Application closed.
